'Ransomware attackers aren't sitting on the fence, neither should you'

Scene Setting…

Since the first instances of ransomware first appeared in 1989, the practice and threat has matured and grown dramatically, leveraging new technology in a way that couldn't have been imagined at the end of the 1980's.

Scene Setting…

While every business, big, small and everything in between are at risk there are industries that are typically targeted, these include:

> Manufacturing
> Financial Services
> Transportation
> Technology
> Legal and Human Resources

These 5 sectors account for 60% of the targets.

Scene Setting…

Insurance companies are not immune either…CNA for example are reported to have made a paid a multi-million payment in May when they suffered an attack.
